

ITerashima Environmental Services

(ITES) is a Honolulu-based environmental consulting firm specializing in environmental science, engineering and readiness training. ITES principal, Ms. Iris Terashima, has worked in Hawaii and the Pacific for 20+ years, and is partnered with many of the local Hawaii as well as U.S. mainland firms—providing a diverse and experienced technical staff of engineers, scientists, and planners for ITES clients.

“We get the job done”

ITES has a reputation for executing projects successfully, and ITES teams have received numerous client commendations. Our responsiveness and commitment to meeting client needs is reflected in long-term client relationships, and we continue to work with satisfied repeat customers.

“Ms. Terashima’s work is thorough and has been repeatedly praised by our client... We have been completely satisfied with Ms. Terashima’s performance from both a technical and administrative/project management standpoint. We would team with her again without hesitation.”
